FLOOR PLAN

WELCOME TO PHOENIX!

Dear Colleagues:

Welcome to the 13th Annual Meeting of The American Society of Breast Surgeons. Those of us who have worked on this year's program couldn't be more pleased that this year's attendance will well exceed the previous record. It is truly a "vote of confidence" in this organization when, despite your demanding schedules, the challenging economy, and competing meetings, you have made the decision to be here. You will not be disappointed.

I am extremely grateful to the faculty who have returned to present our "always popular" pre-meeting courses in Basic Breast Ultrasound and Stereotactic Breast Biopsy. We recognize that these are important resources. I am also delighted that our Oncoplastics faculty has updated their course to include a unit that will prepare you to put some of what you learn to immediate use. I ask you all to join me in welcoming the 2 world-renowned radiologists, Drs. Thomas Stavros and László Tabár, who are leading 2 new courses this year. We appreciate their willingness to share their valuable expertise. Don't despair if you aren't enrolled in either of their courses because you will have opportunities to hear from them during the general session.

C. Alden Sweatman, MD, FACS

I'll see many of you, I'm sure, Thursday afternoon for the always-popular Coding and Reimbursement Symposium and later that evening for the Opening Reception in the Exhibit Hall.

Friday's program opens with breakfast workshops (tickets required) and ends with a poster session and reception. In between, you'll hear presentations on Benign Breast Disease, Future Issues and New Frontiers, Current Controversies, and High-Grade DCIS. Later that afternoon, Dr. Howard Snider, in his Presidential Address, will discuss the impact of quality measures. This will be followed by the first half of our scientific session. If you are a Society member, please be sure to attend the business meeting.

One of Saturday's highlights will certainly be the keynote address by Prof. Ian Ellis. We'll also hear presentations on Management of the Axilla and Special Situations in Breast Cancer; reports on the best of the San Antonio and ASCO meetings; a review of the best papers published in 2011; and the Community Tumor Board. You can listen to research presentations in a new "quickshot" format at lunchtime and later hear the remainder of our oral presenters in part 2 of the scientific session. After a long day focused on serious topics, you can look forward to joining our outgoing President, Dr. Snider, as he celebrates the end of his term in a Cinco de Mayo themed reception (included in your general session and guest registration fees).

Sunday we'll get off to a lively start with Ask the Experts, followed by a presentation on Survivorship and Quality of Life and an Update on Clinical Trials. We'll close with an exciting new "How I Do It" session, in which presenters will use video presentations to demonstrate the techniques they use when performing specific procedures. I think you'll agree that you won't want to leave until we adjourn at 11:30 that morning.

Throughout the meeting you will have ample time to meet with our vendors and see the latest technology and equipment on the market. The unique opportunity to explore so many products specifically related to breast surgery in a single venue is an important component of the meeting.

Finally, I hope that, as you head home, you'll realize that you chose just the right continuing medical education program—one that met your needs and provided you with an extraordinary opportunity to network with colleagues who share your interests. Most of all, I hope you will have marked your calendar for May 1-5, 2013, when we will hold our 14th Annual Meeting in Chicago, Illinois.

Enjoy the meeting!

Sincerely,

C. Alden Sweatman, MD
2012 Annual Meeting Program Chair

Meeting Objectives

Upon completion of this activity, participants should be able to

- ▶ Identify current treatment and management options for breast patients
- ▶ Assess available studies of breast patients

Target Audience

Surgeons with a special interest in the treatment of breast disease.

Accreditation

This activity has been planned and implemented in accordance with the Essential Areas and Policies of the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education through the joint sponsorship of the American College of Surgeons and The American Society of Breast Surgeons. The American College of Surgeons is accredited by the ACCME to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

AMA PRA Category I Credits™

The American College of Surgeons designates this live activity for a maximum of 21.75 AMA PRA Category I Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

American College of Surgeons CME Credit Service

The American College of Surgeons, as the accredited provider of this educational activity, is providing a service to its members. If you indicate on your registration form that you are a member of the College, the CME credit earned from this meeting will be transferred to your ACS MY CME Portal Page. However, it is required that you check off the box on the evaluation form and provide your ACS ID# in order for the College to add this credit to your ACS record. Please note that credits earned will appear on your MY CME page within 3 months of the meeting.

AMERICAN COLLEGE OF SURGEONS

Inspiring Quality:
Highest Standards, Better Outcomes

As the accredited provider, the American College of Surgeons has assigned the following AMA PRA Category I Credits™ to the following activities:

General Session

Thursday, May 3–Sunday, May 6

21.75 CME Credits:

- Thursday = 1 CME credit
- Friday = 8.5 CME credits
- Saturday = 8 CME credits
- Sunday = 4.25 CME credits

Pre-Meeting Courses

Wednesday, May 2

7:30 am–5:00 pm

- ▶ Basic Breast Ultrasound: An Introductory Course (8 CME Credits)
- ▶ Multimodality Detection and Diagnosis of Breast Diseases (6.25 CME Credits)
- ▶ Stereotactic Breast Biopsy: An Introductory Course (8 CME Credits)

Thursday, May 3

7:30 am–4:00 pm

- ▶ Intensive Breast Ultrasound: A Histopathologic-Based Approach to Detection and Diagnosis (8.5 CME Credits)
- ▶ Oncoplastics 2.0: Team Up in Oncoplastic Surgery (7.5 CME Credits)

To receive CME credit for this event, you must complete the Meeting Evaluation Form online at www.breastsurgeons.org no later than Tuesday, May 29, 2012. CME certificates will be mailed Thursday, June 7, 2012.

Opening Reception in Exhibit Hall

7:30 pm–9:00 pm

Enjoy food and drink while meeting fellow members and representatives from the industry's top vendors and getting a first look at this year's exhibits.

Satellite Symposium*

Contemporary Management of Node-Positive Breast Cancer: Anatomy vs Biology

5:30 pm–7:30 pm

Grand Sonoran, Level I

This satellite symposium will focus on emerging data regarding treatment decision-making and difficult clinical scenarios relevant to clinicians who provide care to patients with early-stage breast cancer. The scientific agenda will feature plenary lectures and interactive clinical questions utilizing an audience response system. This will provide surgeons with practical insight from leading experts in the field and improve the integration of new data into clinical practice. This educational activity is organized to create an atmosphere that maximizes the learning opportunities for medical oncologists, surgeons, radiation oncologists, and other healthcare professionals, resulting in the most effective management of patients with breast cancer.

Upon completion of this educational activity, participants should be able to

- ▶ Examine the role of clinical and genomic variables in making surgical and systemic therapy decisions for patients with early-stage breast cancer
- ▶ Discuss the latest clinical data on genomic profiling assays, including patient selection strategies and appropriate integration into clinical practice
- ▶ Describe current standards of care and emerging therapeutic strategies for patients with breast cancer, including the use of endocrine therapy, chemotherapy, and targeted agents

This satellite symposium is sponsored by Genomic Health and is not part of the official program of The American Society of Breast Surgeons. CME credits for this program will be provided by prIME Oncology. This activity is free to all registered attendees; however, pre-registration is required.*

Commercial Exhibits and Supporters

Visit the industry's top vendors in the Exhibit Hall located in the Grand Canyon Ballroom, located on Level 1 of the JW Marriott Desert Ridge. Exhibitors will showcase the latest technology and the newest procedures. You will be able to meet with company representatives and see this technology first-hand.

The American Society of Breast Surgeons gratefully acknowledges the educational grants, marketing support, and gifts in kind received from the following companies and thanks them for helping the Society continue its mission of encouraging the study of breast surgery, promoting research and development of advanced surgical techniques, improving the standards of practice for breast surgery in the United States, and serving as a forum for the exchange of ideas.
